PREFACE.

The contents of this small volume has been obtained by correspondence in the last two years and by a partial personal canvass last May.

Some of the interested parties have failed to return their lists after repeated entreaties, hence but little of some families could be obtained. Doubtless there are some mistakes. There are also many dates that were not obtained. The expense of this Genealogy of the four generations is being borne by my younger brother, A. C. Summers, of 517 California Avenue, Los Angeles, California. Where there are different names is where the parties married into the family.

Trusting the recipients of this volume will appreciate the work and that the coming generations will continue to follow on, A. H. SUMMERS.

Smyrna, Cobb County, Georgia, November 10, 1903.

Compiler.

PREFACE.

The Compiler of this small volume has obtained the most of it by correspondence in the last two years and has had many delays in getting the records returned.

I am very much indebted to my only living uncle, B. J. R. Summers, of Fancy Hill, North Carolina, for valuable aid and intense interest he has manifested in the work.

Also to many other relatives of the different families. Some have never responded after frequent entreaties. Hence I can tell but little of their families. Doubtless there are some mistakes. There are also many dates that were not obtained. Different names are persons that married a Summers.

The expense of this Genealogy for four generations is being borne by my younger brother, A. C. Summers, of 517 California Avenue, Los Angeles, California. A more perfect record could have been obtained had the Compiler made a personal canvass. Trusting the recipients of this will appreciate this work and that the coming generations will continue to follow on.

HISTORICAL.

Some of our Summers' ancestors came from England and settled in Pennsylvania. Then others came on to Maryland. Joseph Summers settled in Maryland. No place of time being obtained. Two of his sons, Paul and George, went from Maryland to West Tennessee and two other sons, Zachariah and Benjamin, came to Iredell County, North Carolina. Benjamin bought land on the south fork of fourth creek two miles north of Statesville, and a half mile south of old Fort Dobbs. There he raised a large family, having married twice, their names hereinafter are mentioned and who mthey married as far as could be obtained.

Zachariah and Benjamin were raised near Bedford town, Maryland. Zachariah's wife was Sarah Dawson, who was raised near the same town. They settled near fifth creek near Providence Church seven miles northeast of Statesville, North Carolina. They had a son, Zachariah, who married a Miss Burnett and went to Henry county, West Tennessee. Four daughters, viz.: Rachel, who never married; one married Daniel Beam; one married Henry Deernan, a wheelwright and chairmaker and one married Louisa, who married James Mills who went West in the year 1845 who has not been heard of since. He was one of the first settlers in Statesville and lived on the north corner of the Public Square. Her parents came from Scotland and settled in Virginia. He had married in Ireland. His first wife was a Beaty. She and several children died in Ireland. One daughter came to this country. He and his last wife had several children but only raised three daughters, Margaret, Elizabeth H., wife of Edmond Rice of Rowan county, N. C.; Mary E., wife of Andrew Gray of this county (Iredell).
